Protection through Work It has many advantages

Your employee benefits through work are a good place to start to get protection for yourself and loved ones. There are many reasons why:

- Less work for you in finding a quality plan.
Your company has done the legwork of researching and finding quality plans to offer you and your fellow employees.

- You get a better deal.
The cost of insurance plans through work is significantly less than what you might pay were you to enroll outside of work.

- You'll never worry about missing a payment.
Any costs you're responsible for are automatically deducted from your paycheck so you'll never have to worry about payments.

- You typically don't have to take a medical exam to enroll.
Unlike enrolling in a plan outside of work, life or disability insurance through work typically does not require a medical exam.
